Senate-Central Pacific Given Another ations to Be Increased.

By Telegraph to The Times.

WASHINGTON, April 6.—[By the Associated Press,] The House Committee on Manufactures today began an inquiry into the alieged Standard Oil Trust, under authority conferred upon the committee by the House to investigate all trusts or combinations.

Henry Webster of Bradford, Pa., a contractor for drilling oil wells and a member of the Oil-drillers' Union, testified at length, going into the details of the contract between the union and the Standard Oil Company and the Producers' Association. He said that 2,000,000 barrels of oil had been set—apart for the benefit of laboring men thrown out of employment. Since the union was formed all drilling had practically ceased. This contract provides, among other things, that the Producers' Association shall pay to the Well-drillers' Union the profits on 1,000,000 barrels of the profits of the profit ing had practically ceased. This contract provides, among other things, that the Producers' Association shall pay to the Well-drillers' Union the profits on 1,000,000 barrels of the profits on 1,000,000 barrels that may remain after adjusting and paying the other classes of labor injured by the shut-down movement, the cost price of oil being 62 cents per barrel on November 1, 1887, and subject to interest, storage and fire-loss charges from that date, the profits to be distributed among members of the Well-drillers' Union. This oil shall be held by the Producers' Association and sold by them when they think proper, but not faster than one-fourth every time emonths. All persons entitled to benefits shall devote their time and attention to the stoopage of drilling during the continuance of the agreement, and shall report weekly to a designated officer.

Question: Do you know whether this organization was formed at the suggestion of the Standard Oil Company for the nurpose of making it more convenient for them to transfer to workmen their share of oil?

Answer: I do not. The purpose of the shut-down was to diminish production and afford an opportunity to decrease the surplus of oil. The object, I understant of the surplus of oil. The object, I understant of proceeded to the consideration of private pension bills on the calendard.

I. N. Bennett of Bradford, Pa., a contractor, also a member of the union, testified that he had done no work since the agree-ment had been entered into, but had re-ceived $75 up to March 10th from the union.

THE CENTRAL PACIFIC.

Another Hearing Before the House Committee on Railways. WASHINGTON, April 6.—[By the Asso-clated Press.] Representative Marion Biggs of California today appeared before the House Committee on Pacific Railroads in advocacy of the passage of the Huntington bill for the settlement of the indebtedness of the Central Pacific to the Government. He said that he had introduced the bill originally by request, but after examination he was prepared to fully indorse it. He said that he had no therest whatever in the railroad company, but had in view the effect of the proposed legislation on the State of the lill only asked assurance of a final vote at the proper time. Any arrangement that included that would be accepted by the court of Claims to adjudicate the various claims and counter claims made in the case. The road had not, in his opinion, been fairly treated by the Government. It was possible that the railroad people could be induced to accept a bill providing for a shorter extension of time for payment of the debt than was proposed in the bill introduced by him.

Touching the value of the additional lien which the company offered the Government in the event of the acceptance of its bill. Mr. Blggs said that the Pacific Railroad Company of the propose to make one for the gentleman's propose. It was a buildozing process.

Mr. Reed inquired whether the gentleman's proposes to make one for the gentleman's proposed.

Mr. Oates rectreted that the proposed to advance one step was nonsensical, and such a proposition of amendments, but to say that the bill would only be allowed to advance one step was nonsensical, and such a proposition of amendments, but to say that the bill would only be allowed to advance one step was nonsensical, and such a proposition of amendments, but to say that the bill would only be allowed to advance one step was nonsensical, and such a proposition of amendments, but to say that the bill would only be allowed to advance one step was nonsensical, and such a proposition was one for the proposition.

in the event of the acceptance of its bill, Mr. Biggs said that the Pacific Railroad Commission had traveled through the country too rapidly to correctly estimate its worth, and he urged that a sub-committee of the House be sent to California to look into the matter. Traveling in a dining-room car in a leisurely way, it would be able to acquire a thorough knowledge of the subject.

Mr. Caruth remarked that perhaps the provisions in the bill would really be found in the dining-room car.

According to the present intention of the committee, this will be the last hearing on the subject of the Central Pacific Railroad debt so far as this session is concerned.

House.—The House this morning entered upon the fourth day of its contest over the Direct Tax Bill.

Mr. Reed of Maine immediately demanded the regular order, which the Speaker stated to be a vote on the motion that when the House adjourned today it be to meet on Saturday next.

Mr. Oates of Alabama, in behalf of the opponents of the bill, proposed that they be allowed two hours for general debate, leaving the question of negotiation as to future stages of the bill to be settled when these stages were reached.

Mr. Taylor of Ohio said that friends of the bill only asked assurance of a final vote at the proper time. Any arrangement that included that would be accepted by them, but any proposition which did not include it would not be acceptable.

Mr. Oates replied that such a proposition as suggested would commit those who opposed the bill to its final bassage, without regard to whether any amendments were adopted or not.

The situation in the House remains unchanged. The day was spent in roll calls and fillibustering, and at 1:30 the House took a recess until tomorrow. The legislative day of Wednesday still continuing, there is some discussion as to what effect the present action of the House in consuming time will have upon the consideration of the Tariff Bill, and there are apprehensions feit by some gentlemen that if dilatory tactics are continued for a few days longer, the necessary consideration of the appropriation bilis will be delayed until a later day than that now fixed for discussion of the Mills Bill.

SEVERAL VERY SINGULAR WIT

Harian's Partner Says the Poor Gir Was Seduced-Will the Defense Produce Harlan in Court at the

New High street has worn a lively appearance since the new courtroom has been occupied, and yesterday morning as early as 8 o'clock persons eager to obtain a seat, for the rule that no standing will be allowed is strictly observed, wended their way to the entrance, and waited patiently until court opened, at 10 o'clock. With a morbid-craving after the sensational that is any-thing but creditable to them, a large number of ladies again occupied seats outside the bar. During the morning, when testi-mony of a highly indecent character was being given regarding the cold-blooded seduction of Hattie Woolsteen by Harlan, the remainder, with unmitigated gall, drank in the lewd details that were rendered all the more disgusting by the snickering way in which the so-called "Dr." Schim related the fact. As the assistant of klarlan, he had every opportunity to know more than the outside world regarding Harlan's plans and mode of life. With deliberation he related how the gambler-dentist divided his time between business and pleasure, but when the searching cross-examination of jumped on a street car to go and see Miss Wooisteen. I remember the culf buttons he wore; they were in a gold setting, and had a ship and lighthouse engraved on them. I did not notice if he wore them on that day. He also wore a diamond horseshoe locket, set with seven small diamonds. The chain he wore was a loose link chain. [Watch and chain and sleeve-buttons identified.] He did not have any pistol. I know he was interested in property at Whittler, and the said he was going there the day before I last saw him. He left in a buggy with a dark bay team, and I did not see him again until next day. He was in the office when I arrived, but I don't remember what time I got there. He and his wife left the office together in the afternoon, and the Doctor returned about a quarter before 6. I examined the Doctor's mouth, and remember he had very peculiar

I knew Dr. Harlan for about three years, and had a knowledge of the formation of the Doctor's mouth, as I did work for hia. I put a filing in an upper and also a lower molar, and later, again, at ird tilling in an upper tool. I exammed the remains at Compton, and recognize the Jaw as being the lower jaw that was then removed.

Witness proceeded to describe in detail the neculiarities of the Doctor's mouth, par-Brunswick cigar-stand, while he continued down Spring street, saying he was going to see Miss Woolsteen. The clubroom is right across the street from the billiard parlors. Harlan and I were some times in the Brunswick together. I never saw that diee before, and never heard of it until Harlan was dead. I don't think I ever saw him throw dice from a box in my life. I didn't Witness proceeded to describe in detail the peculiarities of the Doctor's mouth, particularly the upper jaw.

Cross-examined: I last saw Dr. Harlan on Monday-in October. I don't remember thattie's coming to my office about the end of January to have work done, but thatmight have happened, as we do not extract teeth, and we frequently referred people to Harlan. I had but little acquaintance with Dr. Harlan outside business matters, but he belonged to the Southern California Dental Association, and I used to meet him in that way. I believe positively that the Jaw exhibited was Dr. Harlan's. The effect of heat upon the enamel of the teeth would be Harlan's assistant was recalled when court convened at 2 o'clock. He testified:

When I visited Compton I was accompanied by Dr. Bird, but the Justice of the Peace and a couple of men who came up were present when the remains were exhumed. Unusual importance attaches to the census, to be taken in 1890, for the reason that it marks the end of the first century of the Republic, the first census having been taken in 1790. The United States is destined to see many centuries of existence, and the statis tics obtained at intervals of one hunpurposes of comparison. It is advisable, therefore, that this census be the widest possible scope and of the most consummate accuracy.

A large part of what appears in the published volumes, which constitute the report of the Census Bureau, can be readily arranged beforehand, and the publication of the report thus be expedited. The report on the Ninth Census was not issued until 1872, at which time only some of the more important parts of the work appeared. The Tenti-Census began to appear, volume by volume, in 1883, and some parts of it are not issued yet. The relative value Republicans of Alabama for the con- of statistics decreases year by year, as the time at which they were taken disappears into the past. The element of promptness cuts an important figure in the usefulness of the work of the Cen sus Bureau.

The Tenth Census was in many re spects less satisfactory than those preceded it. An immense amount of matter was included in the work that should scarcely have been accorded a place there. It cannot be presumed to be the duty of the Government to gather an immense body of minute facts relating to various industries, which can plainly be of practical value only to those who are therein engaged, One subject after another the expense of the undertaking has been greatly increased, not only in the total, but in the rate per capita to the cents, and in 1880 9 68 cents. An iron bridge, 155 feet long, and the dam, are both gone, and the damage to property will not fall short of $25,000. The village of Rock Falls, south of the river, was completely inundated. Houses and barns were crushed and swept away, and in some instances no vestige remains of what was before a substantial structure.

The woman and children escaped on floating ice, where they remained, barefooted and in their night clothes, until daylight, when the water receded and their rescue was made. The large bridge went out when the ice gorze gave way, and portions of the trusses and stringers are now to be seen on the farm of Joseph Herret, where they were borne by the flood, two miles below the dam. The tubing, considered the best in the State, is gone. Miles of fences were torn from the land, where water was never known to reach before. ALHANBRA, April 6 .- [Correspondence of THE TIMES.] In addition to the sum of $3900, already raised toward building the Presbyterian Church, the Home Board has appropriated $1000 additional. The contract for building will be awarded Monday next, and the work pushed rapidly to completion.

The construction train on the rapid transit is kept busy running up and down with material. To old settlers it seems a dream to witness a full-fledged railroad train rushing across Garfield avenue, in the very heart of the town.

Inside of six weeks passengers can take the cars on this road at Monrovia, make a call at Alhambra, or connect at Shorb Station with the Southern Pacific Railroad.

The fair has come and gone. Every one is tired, but very happy. The results far exceeded the most sanguine expectations, while the good accruing to Alhambra is beyond computation. After paying all bills, the Lend-a-hand will be able to turn into the church building fund a balance of $1045.

In addition to this, there will be the proceeds of 53 boxes of oranges, shipped to northern cities. Mrs.Col. McMullen, a leading member of the Presbyterian Church in San Francisco, will attend to yesterday Oregon Saunders, lawyer, politician and Republican, of Tulare, is in the city. Mr. Saunders is a prominent man in his section of the State.

Sidney Dickinson, the lecturer, last evening entertained a raiher small audience in the First Congregational Church with his lecture and stereopticon views of the Sandlecture and stereopticon views of the Sandwich Islands. All the lights were extinguished at the bedrinning of the lecture, so as to more clearly present the scenes portrayed on the sheet in front of the speaker. The lecturer began by telling that the Sandwice Islands lie 2100 miles from San Francisco, in the Pacific Ocean; that they are 12 in number and were originally discovered by the Spaniards. Mr. Dickinson in well-selected language then described the people, and dwelt for a considerable time on the extent and wonderful nature of the volcanoes. A lack of space precludes a more extended review of the lecture. All seemed well pleased with the entertainment.

"NIGGER" GRIFFIN.

The Swindler Is in Jail, and Will Probably Be Brought Back. The copper-colored gentleman who re-oiced in the name of Dr. G. Hamilton Grifn is once again in the toils, and his many Los Angeles friends will probably have the pleasure (?) of again looking on the schemer who, with strict impartiality, robbed friends and foes alike.

When it was known beyond the shadow of a doubt that the Doctor had skipped out naturally his bondsmen, but more particularly two of them, were very wroth, and forthwith placed the matter in the hands of Lucas's Detective Agency. Yesterday the news was received that the wily schemer had not displayed sufficient cunning in hiding himself away, and was safe in custody. Where, when and how the arrest was made is not known for the simple reason that until the Doctor's bondsmen deposit the necessary funds wherewith to pay the expenses of bringing the swindler back to the city all information is refused by the detective agency. This much, however, is known: That Griffin had stowed himself away in a sung little corner of the earth outside of United States territory. Two of his bondsmen—Messrs, Garnier and Schrieck—will probably be better pleased if Grifin of a doubt that the Doctor had skipped out his bondsmen—Messars. Garnier and Schrieck —will probably be better pleased if Griffin is left at large, because they were shrewd enough to protect themselves before ever they affixed their signatures to the bond.
The jeweiry in their possession will more than cover the indebtedness and leave a surplus, so that they have no burning desire to see the "phiz" of the boss confidence man back again in Los Angeles. With the other two bondsmen, however, the matter is somewhat different, and in all probability arrangements will be made by which Griffin will be brought back and handed over to the authorities here.
It was currently reported that Griffin, before he left, was in hard straits for money, and that his wife was left in a miserably poor condition. It is now settled beyond

The Convention and How the Delegates Will Be Treated.

The Democrats of the city held a meeting yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The object of the meeting was to devise means to how to the Los Angeles delegation to the State Central Committee the appreciation of the party for the work done in securing the convention for Los Angeles.

After much discussion, it was decided to ender them a reception on their return. A ommittee of arrangements, consisting of lessrs, I. W. Hellman, I. D.

The Times, says: "The passengers of train 19, on April 4th, sub-cribed the sun of $71 for the benefit of W. H. Hewitt's office, to be sent to the men then lying in Newhali."

Tough Murderers Brought to This City. Juan Chino, another one of the Tule

River Indians, charged with murdering the Indian "doctor," Juan Baptiste, who failed to cure the chief, "Hunter Jim," was brought to this city on Thursday night, and was yesterday taken before United States Commissioner Van Dyke. The Commissioner fixed his hearing for 10 o'clock this morning, when "Salt Lake Pete," another of the Indian murderers, will again appear for examination. There are yet two other Indian murderers at large. Juan Chino was captured by L. C. Anderson, who kept a watch on Chino's wife, and tracked her to the foothills near the reservation, where Chino was discovered. He offered no resistance, as Mr. Anderson had the "drop" on him. Several Indian witnesses were brought to this city to testify on the examination, and the Commissioner will hold a grand pow-wow with them today. morning, when "Salt Lake Pete," another

In the County Jail.
The man who refused to give his correct name, but was prosecuted and convicted under that of Oistead for having played and conducted a game of faro, pleaded guilty yesterday morning in Department No. 1 of the Superior Court, and waived time for sentence. The Court said the case was a peculiar one, but the law left him no discretionary power, so he inflicted a fine of $200 and $10 costs, or one year in the County Jail. He allowed a deputy sheriff to go with Olstead while he tried to raise the money, but the prisoner was obliged to confess that he thought it more than probable that he would have to mount the "rocky steep" leading to the County Jail, as money was scarce and hard to obtain.
